By-gone Days.

Every heart has known the pleasure,
When we try again to gaze,
Tinged and toned with tender sadness,
Sacred thoughts of by-gone days.

Oh! what feelings steal upon us
When we try again to gaze,
As memory paints in softened colors
Lights and shades of by-gone days.

Through the scenes of youth enchanted
Melting fancy wanders stray,
Repeating life's fantastic drama,
Every act of by-gone days.

Forms of dear ones loved and loving
Mem'ry's magic wand can raise;
Hopes and fears the heart once cherished,
Woes and bliss of by-gone days.

Sad or happy, high or lowly,
Loved or loved by its ways,
Every heart delights to linger
Round the charm of by-gone days.

Honolulu, 1856.

VARIETY.

The roots of a tree are hidden—so are the sources of evil.

A thimble full of powder will split a rock forty feet square.

Plough deep, while the sluggards sleep, and you shall have grain to sell and to keep.

Pride is as loud a beggar as Want, and a great deal more saucy.

Silks, satins, scarlets, and velvets put out the kitchen fire.

Antiquary.—Too often a collector of valuables that are worth nothing, and a recollector of all that Time has been glad to forget.

We paint our lives in fresco. The soft and facile plaster of the moment hardens under every stroke of the brush into eternal rock.

There is a time for all things. The time to "leave" is when a young lady asks you how the walking is.

"Tis false," as the girl said when her beau told her she had beautiful hair.

Mrs. Dawdle says one of her boys don't know nothing, and the other does. The question is, which is ahead?

Before you commit suicide, take an emetic. What you take for despair may be only a couple of pig's feet. Try it on.

They are all discoverers that think there is no land when they can see nothing but sea.

The less weight a race-horse carries, the quicker he runs; and the same speed holds good with the human tongue.

Remember that true fortitude surmounts difficulties, and that you cannot pass into the temple of honor but through that of virtue.

A woman about to sign a deed, was asked by the judge if her husband compelled her to sign. "He compels me," said the indignant woman, "no, nor twenty like him couldn't do such a thing."

POVERTY.—It was Washington Irving we believe, who observed that when we are willing to appear poor, we have taken from poverty its sharpest sting.

Somebody describing the absurd appearance of a man dancing the polka, says "he looks as though he had a hole in his pocket, and was trying to shake a shilling down the leg of his trousers."

An orphan girl of 20, with $5000 a year, adventures herself in a New York paper as wanting a handsome and respectable young man in marriage. She prints her picture, and it is pretty, and hails from Springfield.

The bachelors of Cleveland are an ungallant set of fellows. At their annual supper a few nights ago, the following was the seventh regular toast: "Our future wives—Distance lends enchantment to the view."

SCATTERING AND INCREASING.—Serving God with our life, whether in the way of time, talents, property or influence, is the very way to make it more. Nothing is wasted by which God is honored or man blessed. It is but seed sown to be gathered again a hundred fold in the harvest.

THE POWER OF STEAM.—A pint of water, evaporated by two ounces of coal, swells into two hundred and sixteen gallons of steam, with a mechanical force sufficient to raise a weight of thirty-seven tons a foot high.

OMNIBUS JOKE.—It is told of Charles Lamb, that one afternoon, having taken a seat in a crowded omnibus, a stout gentleman subsequently looked in and politely said "All full inside?" "I don't know how it may be with the other passengers," he answered Lamb, "but that last piece of oyster pie did the business for me."

IT IS SUMMER NOW, but it was winter, clear and cold, and the snow was finely packed, when Dr. Meadows was one of a sleighing party, which he describes, so far as he and the young Widow Lambkin were concerned, in the words following:

"The lively Widow Lambkin sat in the same sleigh under the same buffalo-robe with me.

"Oh, oh! don't, don't," she exclaimed, as we came to the first bridge, at the same time catching me by the arm, and turning her veiled face toward me, while her little eyes twinkled through the moonlight.

"Don't what?" I asked. "I'm not doing any thing."

"Well, but I thought you were going to take toll," replied Mrs. Lambkin.

"Toll?" I rejoined; "what's that?"

"Well, I declare!" cried the Widow, her clear laugh ringing out above the music of the bells, "you pretend you don't know what toll is!"

"Indeed I don't, then," I said laughing; "pray explain, if you please."

"You never heard, then," said the Widow, most provokingly—"you never heard that when we are on a sleigh-ride the gentlemen always—that is, sometimes—when they cross a bridge, claim a kiss, and call it toll. But I never pay it."

"I said that I had never heard of it before; but when we came to the next bridge I claimed the toll, and the Widow's struggles to hold the veil over her face were not enough to tear it. At last the veil was removed, her round, rosy face was turned directly toward mine, and in the clear light of a frosty morning the toll was taken, for the first time in his life, by Dr. Meadows. Soon we came to a long bridge, with several arches; the Widow said it was no use to resist; a man who would have his own way, so she paid the toll without a murmur.

"But you won't take toll for every arch, will you, Doctor?" the Widow said so archly, that I could not fail to exact all my dues, and that was the beginning."—But never mind the rest. The Lambkin had the Meadows all to herself in the spring.—Harper's.

THE REV. DR. SCOTT of San Francisco has of late been figuring in the public prints quite conspicuously; from his open denunciation of the Vigilance Committee; and so offensive has his course been to the public, that he was hung in effigy before his own church in San Francisco. The act was charged on the Vigilance Committee, who have denied all knowledge of the affair.

DR. SCOTT HUNG IN EFFIGY.—On Sunday morning Oct. 6, before daylight, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Scott was hung in effigy before his own church on Bush street. The puppet was cut down about 7 o'clock. The law and order organs acquit the principal men of the Vigilance Committee from any participation in the affair, but strive hard to fix it upon the friends and sympathizers of the organization. The whole ridiculous proceeding, however, is understood to have been a silly trick of certain law and order bloods for the purpose of raising an excitement against the Vigilants. Neither the Vigilants nor their friends have as yet gone to work in such a ridiculous way. They have done what they have done in an open public manner. They have not formed themselves into an association for scattering fire-brands and disturbance among their fellow-citizens and called themselves by the hypocritical name of "The Young Men's Democratic Club." It is to be hoped that the men who strung up the puppet may be found out, and we will then know the truth. A case occurred the other day in which a man poisoned a water creek and tried to throw the crime upon the head of another. Beyond a doubt, that case suggested this pitiable expedient of hanging Dr. Scott in effigy and then howling over it.—San Francisco Bulletin.

The Vigilance Committee had offered a reward of $7,500 for the persons who were concerned in the above affair, and it is not unlikely that if detected, the most summary punishment will be inflicted.

GREAT BRITAIN.—From every part of the United Kingdom the harvest reports are of a favorable character, and but little doubt is now entertained that the grain crops will be at least a fair average in quantity and quality. In Scotland the crops are very heavy. In the political world there is nothing worth reporting. Miss Nightingale has returned to her home in Derbyshire, avoiding all public demonstrations of welcome.

THE QUEEN OF OUDE AT SOUTHAMPTON.—The Indus arrived at Southampton on Wednesday evening Aug. 17, with a heavy portion of the Indian mail. Among her passengers are the Queen Dowager of Oude, and the brother and son of the ex-King, with 106 followers. The Queen Dowager is a good-looking woman of dark complexion, fifty-five years of age, and very intelligent. She is very sanguine as to the success of her mission to this country for the restoration of her son to the throne of Oude. She has $20,000 for current expenses. The jewelry she lost on her voyage was worth $50,000. Some portion of it was intended for presents for the Queen of England. The son of the ex-King is a very handsome youth. He and his uncle dress in the most magnificent style, their head-dresses being covered with diamonds and emeralds. Many of the followers are small, poor-looking men, and exceedingly dark. The Queen of Oude and suite occupied the whole of the fore part of the ship, where a cooking galley was fitted up. The party lived upon rice, curry, sheep, and lambs between Alexandria and Southampton. The dishes were usually served up of curries and pilchard. The Queen of Oude occasionally sent into the saloon for the English passengers a curry or pilchard, and such dishes were found to be delicious. There are six maids of honour in attendance on the Queen every day. A screen was erected on deck, the inclosed part was carpeted, and the Queen and ladies were escorted up behind the screen, great care being taken to keep all persons from gazing on the ladies. The whole of White's Royal York Hotel, which was uninhabited, has been taken by the Queen, who is to pay 12 guineas a day for the use of it. The ex-King of Oude is expected to leave Calcutta shortly for England with 150 followers. The treasures which the Queen has on board consist chiefly of the most costly Cashmere shawls and jewellery.—Illustrated News.

HEALTH OF LONDON.—London is not in an average state of health. 1250 deaths were registered in the week that ended on Saturday, August 10, whereas the corrected average of the corresponding eight weeks of previous years, when cholera was not epidemic, is 1127. In the second week of August, 1849 and 1854, cholera was epidemic, and the deaths amounted to 2230 and 1838. During the week the births of 793 boys and 792 girls, in all 1585 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1849-55 the average number was 1427.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE FOUNTAINS.—Last Saturday Aug. 20, another display of the whole series of fountains took place. There was on this occasion a most numerous, and, for the season, a very fashionable, attendance of visitors. The gardens were crowded. The city was propitious for the exhibition; and, for the first time, the gigantic columns of water in the lower basins attained their full altitude, 280 feet.

FRANCE.—On Friday, the 15th ult., the Emperor's fête took place—salutes were fired, masses said, the Te Deum sung, games and dramas played, concerts and fireworks heard and seen. The Moniteur publishes a decree opening a credit of $22,000 francs for the payment of the interest and sinking fund of the shares guaranteed by France on the Greek loan of 1833. Marshal Pelissier's title is Duke of the Malakoff, with a pension of 100,000 francs per annum. M. Renard has been appointed Minister of Public Instruction.

FRENCH RAILROADS.—French railroads are superbly managed. The administration is perfect and regular as regulators in all their movements. On one railroad line, two hundred and forty trains pass a certain bridge every day, and no collision. The roads are well built. They cost high, compared with ours—but what would ours cost if made as good as these? The stone-masonry, the grading, the ballasting, the sodding of the slopes, the depots, the station-houses, the order and the preciseness are all models which we shall follow eventually. No conductor can cheat here; no collecting of fares in cars; no confusion in getting in; their tunnels are excellent, and their street crossings admirable.

The Dudley Astronomical Observatory at Albany was inaugurated on Thursday. A brilliant audience of from four to five thousand persons, including the members of the Scientific Congress, and others distinguished for learning, ability and official position, and a large number of ladies, were in attendance. A letter was read from Mrs. Dudley, donating fifty thousand dollars for the furtherance of the objects for which the Observatory was founded. The announcement of her liberality was received with acclamation and a general uprising of the audience. The Hon. Edward Everett delivered the inaugural oration, taking for his subject "The Uses of Astronomy."

By a singular and accidental meeting, the widow of Marshal St. Arnaud and the widowed Lady Baglan are now traveling together on the Continent, and are at present at the baths of Plombières, where Napoleon III. is sojourning.

A cabbage, weighing forty-five pounds, was exhibited at the San Francisco Bulletin office lately.
